Titled Peggars.

"You would be astonished if you knew the number of letters I receive at the beginning of every season from titled people who propose to stay at my hotel, entirely at my expense, during the holidays," said the proprietor of a south coast hotel in the course of a conversation the writer had with him recently.

'So many Americans and merchants from the midlands who have made their piles hope to scrape up acquaintances which may lead to the marriages of their daughters with aristocrats during the summer season that the way in which they select their hotel is to see what titled persons are staying where they STABLISHED 1792. wish to go, and the hotel at which there are the most promising titles | 5 and names is invariably the one selected by them, while they make a point of indulging in every extravagance just to prejudice their victims in their favor and exhibit to them their wealth.

"The aristocracy know this full well, and impecunious baronets are especially willing to take advantage of it. They know the value of their titles to use as trade advertisements, and many of them get their summer holidays at good hotels absolutely free in this way. Rich merchants are the people who make hotels pay, and we proprietors know that noth ing attracts these so well as the names and titles of bachelor baronets; hence we are generally quite willing to entertain these queer proposals."-Pearson's Weekly.

In Rome, Ga., lives an ingenious farmer who was told that onions were efficacious in causing sleep. Being kept awake late every night by the noise of the numerous beaus who came to see his daughters, he resolved to try the onion prescription. He did not take it himself, however, but made his daughters eat them every night at supper. The family now retires at an early hour every night, and peace reigns in the household. The onion is mighty and will prevail.-Richmond (Ind.) Reg-To one who said, "I do not believe that there is an honest man in the world," another replied, "It is im possible that any one man should know all the world, but quite possible that one may know himself."-

Last summer one of our grandchild en was sick v thasevere bo Our doctor's: medies had failed, then we tried Chan . erlain's Colic. Cholera and diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief. We regard it as best medicine ever put on the market for bowel complaints .-- Miss E G. Gregory, Frederickstown, Mo. This certainly is the best medicine ever put on the market for dysentery, summer complaint, colic and cholera infantum in children. It never fails to give prompt relief when used in reasonable time and the plain printed directions are followed. Many mothers have ex pressed their sincere gratitude for the cure it has effected.
